To whom it may concern,

I initially engaged Best Build Construction for a consult on my home as it was a monolithic clad house.

The cost I was facing to reclad my home was daunting to a point I almost did not go ahead. I was almost certain my house was not a leaky home. Brendan and his team were very upfront and honest about what could potentially happen once the recladding process begun.

As I was under no illusion from the very beginning as to what could occur once the reclad started, it softened the blow of how bad it really was. The honest and open communication throughout the reclad made the process easier, all whilst we remained living in the house.

Whether to proceed with the work was a difficult decision to make as the total cost could not be defined. This decision was made easier by the honesty from the team at BBCL. It was definitely the right decision as I now have a structurally sound home that looks fantastic. Completing the work means I have the value (and more) back in my house, and the ability to sell when it is time to move on.

I am extremely happy with the service provided, when I recently purchased a commercial property, they were my first point of call to complete the works required. With this project being of a different nature, it was great to see the same commitment and ability to deliver the project on time and on budget. I would happily recommend BBCL to anyone, they provided the utmost professionalism as well as quality of service.
